ESAN, in its 43 years of academic experience, has come long ways, becoming Universidad ESAN on July 12, 2003 by Law N° 28021. Throughout these years ESAN has achieved a relevant role in Peru, based on the quality of its Master programs of the highest level, with over four thousand five hundred graduates and its leading role in the training of business executives that hold top positions in the private and public sectors. The thousands of executives trained in our classrooms are committed to seek professional excellence and to give support to their organizations and to society wherever they have been called to work.

Responsible for these achievements is a highly qualified faculty and professional body, entirely devoted to the institution on a full time basis. Likewise, ESAN offers the most advanced information technology tools applied to education, research and decision-making activities. In the Research Department, high priority is assigned to the production of teaching materials based on actual cases and projects, developing information to enrich the teaching process, as well as, contributing to the search of alternatives for the solution of national problems. Course contents are permanently revised, in order to ensure high academic standards and the appropriate mix between theory, innovation and the development of managerial skills.

ESAN continues to be fully immersed in an internationalization process, maintaining strategic links with prestigious institutions in the five Continents, and keeping a permanent and stimulating dialogue with their authorities and members. Through this effort we offer our faculty, students and alumni, new dimensions of knowledge and opportunities for professional and personal growth.

Our MBA has been formulated within the frame of the strictest international academic standards, with topnotch instructional and information technology and under the academic responsibility of a qualified management experienced faculty. It has international recognition, reflected in 6 double-degrees and over 60 one or two semester exchange agreements. Spanish language courses are also available to students and faculty.

Master programs in Finance and Corporate Law and in Finance have been offered since 2004, to satisfy further training needs at the graduate level. At present ESAN’s portfolio also include Master programs in Information Technology, Real Estate Management and Development and Marketing (the latter will begin next September). These are unique in their modular structure and other characteristics, defined to increase the relationship between theory and practice.

At the Undergraduate level ESAn’s offers programs leading to the degrees of Bs. Sc. in Economics, Management and Engineering, as well as to an official professional title (Licenciatura)

Our campus, located on the site of an old hacienda-house in the district of Surco, surrounded by hills and green areas and with modern installations, provides the atmosphere required by for studying. All working areas—the Information Center (ESAN/Cendoc), classrooms, offices and meeting rooms—have access to Internet, either wireless or through connecting points.

We encourage you to strongly consider the possibility of coming to ESAN and to Peru, and to embrace the challenges of a unique professional and personal experience.

ESAN offers its students the opportunity to pursue a concentration or specialization during the third and fourth academic terms. Areas of concentration that may be opened, depending on the students’ interest, may be:

- Finance.
- General Management.
- Information Technology.
- International Business.
- Marketing.

Esan’s Modular Master of Science Programs (Part-Time)

- Magister in Finance and Corporate Law.
- Magister in Finance.
- Magister in Real Estate Management & Development.
- Magister in Information Technology (double degree).
- Magister in Management of People.
- Magister in Marketing.
- Magister in supply Chain Management (double degree).
The Bachelor's Program

The Undergraduate Programs opens twice a year, with classes beginning in the months of March and August. The program is divided into ten semesters.

Program Duration

The Undergraduate Programs have a length of 10 semesters. A semester consists of 17 weeks. The summer term lasts 7 weeks. To obtain the Bachelor Degree, a student needs to complete 210 credits. One credit (depending if have or not lab/practice hours) equals up to 5-10 contact hours, and one hour equals 50 minutes.

It is expected to obtain the Bachelor's degree that the students take 6 or 7 courses every semester and will have attended 63 courses at the end of his or hers studies, of which 6 are electives. The students may choose elective courses at the beginning of eighth semester.

Content Coverage

The content of the program is related to the mission of the University. In the mission of the University it is stated that it is committed to offer a humanistic and scientific higher education which contributes to the integral development of the student, to the societal well-being and to the formation of responsible leaders who are able to respond to the demands of a global environment. Consequently, the curriculum of the Bachelor Programs include courses like Globalization and Social Studies Critical Thinking, Sociology, Study methodology and Research, Organizational Theory, Human Behavior in Organizations, Corporative Social Responsibility and Philosophy and Ethics.

The maximum amount of credits a student may obtain in one semester is 24, however some exceptions are permitted. Although the credit unit is determined by the contact hours, it is expected that the student dedicates a certain amount of time outside the classroom for learning activities such as readings, preparation of individual and group projects and research, case studies, exam preparations, etc.

Student-Faculty Interaction

Interaction between students and the Faculty takes many forms, formal and informal, in the classroom and outside. In the classroom interaction takes place by the use of interactive methods. Outside the classroom students can visit the professors during office hours, by email, chat and phone.

The University has developed and implemented a system of counseling and guidance. It has the purpose to assist our students in academic affairs, such as his or hers academic progress, study methodology, etc., during the first two years of study. Every student is assigned a professor who acts like a counselor and guide and can be consulted when the students consider it suitable.

In addition the University has established a mechanism to monitor the academic performance of the students. It permits to take action in the case a student has problems to fulfill the academic requirements which risks his or hers stay at the University.

The Graduate Program

The full-time MBA Program opens twice a year, with classes beginning in the months of March and August. The program is divided into four terms.

Curriculum Structure

The MBA Program at ESAN uses the case method as part of its methodology and class discussion as the core of the teaching practices. Other pedagogical methods are also used considering their effectiveness in achieving specific objectives, such as conferences, seminars, company visits, audiovisual tools and simulation and business plan.

As mentioned before, contents of these programs have been distributed in academic periods that may include compulsory and elective courses as well as skill development workshops. Due to the fact that there are several groups studying simultaneously, core and elective courses may be offered several times during a given year. Therefore, exchange students can take advantage of this situation and register in one or two periods, depending on the duration of their stay and academic interests.

The academic training is completed by means of a unique program of activities known as the Managerial Skills Program that centers in developing the attitudes and skills that a modern manager must possess such as: Strategic Thinking; Leadership; Communication Abilities; Flexibility; and Interpersonal Relationships.
MBA Majors
ESAN offers its students the opportunity to pursue a concentration or specialization during the third and fourth academic terms. Areas of concentration that may be opened, depending on the students’ interest, may be:

- Finance.
- General Management.
- Information Technology.
- International Business.
- Marketing.

Esan’s Modular Master Of Science Programs (Part-Time)

- Magister in Finance and Corporate Law.
- Magister in Finance.
- Magister in Real Estate Management & Development.
- Magister in Information Technology (double degree).
- Magister in Management of People
- Magister in Marketing.
- Magister in supply Chain Management (double degree)

Presentation
Through these modular Master of Science programs, ESAN provides students the opportunity to obtain a progressive certification in a given discipline by gradually completing the modules that integrate each of these programs. After all requirements have been met, the student is granted “in the name of the Nation” the respective Magister degree, equivalent to a Master of Sciences. It is fully accredited by the Asamblea Nacional de Rectores, the Peruvian University Board.

Exchange students may register in the courses offered within any of these modular programs, provided their selection is approved by the home institution.

International Weeks
Additionally, ESAN hostesses two international weeks, one each semester, in charge of Visiting Faculty from Europe, Latin America and the United States, who teach intensive seminars, considered as electives, with a workload of ten/1.5 Hr. sessions each, equivalent to 1.5 credits each course. Local students select two courses each time. These are also opened to exchange students who may register depending on their regular work load and class schedule. Some of these courses may be taught in English.

Transfer Credits

The Graduate Program

ESAN Credits

MBA Program

One (1) ESAN credit equals 10 in-class hours instruction plus an estimated individual preparation of 30 hours, making a total of 40 hours.

The workload of international exchange student must be approved by the home institution.

For incoming students ESAN recommends a 5 to 8 courses workload depending on the duration of the stay in Peru and the number of credits of the selected courses (*)

(*) A 1.5 credit course is equal, in total, to 60 study hours.
A 2.0 credit course is equal, in total, to 80 study hours.

European Exchange Students:

Equivalence

1 class hour = 4 hours individual preparation including class hour

1 ECTS is equivalent to 30 hours of preparation.

1 subject of 10 SESSIONS of 1.5 hrs. = 15 CLASS HOURS or 60 preparation hours: 30

1 subject of 10 SESSIONS of 2 hrs. = 20 CLASS HOURS or 80 preparation hours: 30

1 subject of 20 SESSIONS of 2 hrs. = 40 CLASS HOURS or 160 preparation hours: 30

The Undergraduate Program

Semester Length: 14 classes weeks plus 2 weeks for mid term and final exams

Transfer Credits

ESAN Credits

Each theory hour implies 3 hours plus of preparation

Equivalence with ECTS

Subject Example:

General Management: 4 credits

Correspondence considering preparation hours:

\[(4 \times 3) + (1 \times 2) = 14 \text{ h/w}\]

4 credits x 14 weeks = 56 hours/semester

Correspondence with ECTS

\[\frac{14 \text{ h/w} \times 14 \text{ w} = 196 \text{ hours per sem} \div 30 = 6.5 \text{ ECTS}}{\text{ECTS}}\]
General Information on Studies

Graduate program:

Admission Process and Requirements

The home institution will nominate candidates that have sufficient command of Spanish to pursue graduate studies at ESAN (names and e-mail addresses). If deemed necessary the student could participate in the 10-week immersion language programs offered by ESAN. These programs are specially designed and involve an additional cost to be covered by the student.

Upon receipt of this information, ESAN will provide the potential exchange student with detailed information about the Master programs described in this Guide, and will ask that an application form be submitted. It should be sent directly to the e-mail address shown in the form. This material is available in the web:

Requirements for admission are:

- Complete application form.
- Professional résumé, including a photograph.
- Hard copy of the university official nomination letter.
- Proof of health insurance for the duration of the stay.

One term exchange students do not require GMATT or TOEFL scores nor academic transcripts. The home institution’s nomination supersedes these requirements.
Official Visas for Exchange Students With Registered Academic Agreements

Regulation for visa further information, this material is available in the web (page 20)

When departing from Lima, foreign visitors are required to pay airport taxes amounting to US$28.00 per person. This tax is paid at the National Bank office located at the airport.

There is also an airport tax for flights within Peru, amounting to S/.15. per person, payable at the same National bank office.

Citizens from the following countries do NOT require visas (less than 90 days stays):

AMERICA
All countries except Cuba

EUROPE
All the citizens of the European Union

ASIA
South Korea
Philippines
Hong Kong
Indonesia
Malaysia
Singapore
Thailand
Taiwan (Taipei)

AFRICA

Currency and Living Cost

The Peruvian currency is the Nuevo Sol. At present (June 2008), the exchange rate may vary from 2.5 to 2.8 soles to 1.00 US dollar. To see the current exchange rate against the dollar, in Peru, US dollars are easiest to exchange although Euros are now accepted in banks and formal exchange houses. Any other currency can be difficult to change outside of Lima. Bills in lower denominations are more convenient because retailers may have limited change. The same is true of taxi drivers. Vendors, banks, exchange houses, etc. will not accept dollar bills that are old or have even the slightest tear.

The Nuevo Sol (S/) is divided into 100 cents. The currency includes 10, 20 and 50 cent coins and also 1, 2 and 5 sol coins. There are bills in the denomination of 10, 20, 50, 100 and 200 soles.

The most widely accepted credit card in Peru is Visa. MasterCard and American Express are also accepted but not so openly.

Spanish for Business Program

The increase of international operations with Spanish-speaking countries is challenging business executives to consider proficiency in Spanish as part of their professional qualifications. This proficiency is required both in the social and business environments and in the case of international MBA students following a Spanish or Latin American specialization, academic use of the language is a must.

Capable of meeting these requirements, ESAN University, which has one of the leading Latin American business schools with a well-established international reputation, offers an Immersion Program in Spanish for Business customized to the needs of foreign exchange students. The program combines language, culture, history, and business studies.

This program was originally designed for the University of California at Los Angeles and was successfully launched in 1999. For 9 years now, we have served students from different institutions, such as:

- University of Texas at Austin
- Cornell University
- University of Nebraska
- University of North Carolina
- University of Washington
- University of Florida
- Florida International University
- University of Pennsylvania

Our aim is to provide a Spanish learning opportunity that will meet higher expectations of quality and personal service. So, we invite you to come and have a comprehensive and solid learning experience.

Our Program

Our program allows students to gain significant advance in their proficiency of the Spanish language. We offer a 4-week intensive immersion program, which consists of a total of 100 hours, 90 for tuition hours plus other 10 hours for visits. On top of these, there are also some tutorial sessions to cope with some individual learning needs if necessary.

The program comprises the following components:

- General Language Development
  - Communicative Grammar
  - Communication and Social Context
- Language, Business, Culture and History
  - Spanish for Business
  - Aspects of Peruvian Reality
  - Business Seminars
  - History Seminars
  - Cultural & company visits
- Optional Activities
  - MBA courses **
  - Customized study program
  - Remedial Tutorials

 Students may attend an MBA course as auditing students. MBA courses may start earlier or finish later than the Spanish for Business program.

We also run courses for undergraduates and faculty members. We have had undergraduate students from different campuses of the University of California, and faculty members from Florida International University. This latter program has been running for 7 years.

Objectives

The program seeks to enable participants to communicate in business and professional situations. It is anticipated that students will develop verbal and writing abilities a level above their initial proficiency level, which will allow them to use Spanish appropriately and effectively in the working environment.

The following are the specific objectives:
- Spanish courses aimed at developing language proficiency necessary for interacting in general, professional, academic and business situations. Participants will give presentations, attend lectures, participate in debates and discussions as well as develop reading and writing skills.
- Topics on Latin American social, cultural and historical issues that will provide a general overview of the region, including political and economic aspects, and which will help understand our kaleidoscope of idiosyncrasies, traditions and customs.

- Company and cultural visits that will give an insight into Peru’s business, cultural and history reality.

- Customized study opportunities to cover weak areas or issues of specific interest.

Proficiency Levels

We distinguish the following levels and sub-levels of proficiency in Spanish:

- Beginner Level
- Elementary level
- High Elementary level
- Intermediate level (Lower Intermediate, Mid-intermediate and Upper-intermediate)
- Advanced level

We aim our courses at the broad Intermediate proficiency level but we are prepared to develop a program for other groups belonging to other levels, depending on the total number of students.

The program is customized to the proficiency level of a homogeneous group of students in terms of oral skills and grammar knowledge. An on-line entrance diagnostic exam seeks to determine this group prior to the start of the program.

We are able to cope with individual level differences within a group of students through supplementary guided instruction, customized grammar courses for sub-groups and individualized activities and evaluation.

Individual students could reach different levels of proficiency according to their progress and commitment during the program.

Our Faculty

ESAN’s business faculty hold doctoral and master degrees from many of the top business schools in the world. Their academic work includes conducting internationally recognized research and extensive lecturing in the MBA and Executive Programs. Additionally, many are directors or consultants in prestigious organizations.

The Language Program faculty consists of professional language teachers with extensive training abroad. They have experience in teaching Spanish and English to professionals, business executives and MBA students. Many are advisors in the field of language teaching and have participated in national and international educational projects.

Evaluation Scheme

We are open to adopt any evaluation scheme used by the institutions sending students to our program, as in most cases the Spanish program accounts for credits. If using our own scheme, the scale goes from 0 to 20.

Accommodations

Accommodations are available at an apart-hotel in fully equipped 3-bedroom or 4-bedroom suites, which include kitchen, living and dining room facilities. Upgrading for 1-bedroom suites may be possible at an extra charge. Meals are not included as students can cater for themselves.

The suites are centrally located in the district of San Isidro, at a 15-minute ride far from the school. Transport from/to the school will be provided at a fixed time early in the morning and in the afternoon.

Alternatively, there are a few places with local families at walking distance, which consist of a bedroom with a private bathroom. Accommodations include daily breakfast, and dinner meals only from Monday to Friday.

Lunch is provided for all students at the school premises from Monday to Friday. Some of the lunch meals will be provided at restaurants during the visits.

Students may choose their own accommodations and lunch meals if they wish so. We will deduct these costs from the total fee.

Health Insurance

We require students to take a health insurance policy. Most U.S. health insurance policies are valid in the Peruvian private health system for reimbursement of medical expenses when back in the States.

Program Dates

REGISTRATION:

Student’s Budget

The students coming to the program must approximately consider the following budget in addition to the exchange program’s cost:

- Meals, transport & other personal expenses: U.S.$ 700.00
- Tourism: U.S.$ 700.00

The program includes tuition, materials, certificates, visits, transport from/to airport, lunch meals from Monday to Friday and accommodations (including 4 additional days, two before the program starts and two upon completion of the program).
Our Country

Peru is the most representative country in South America, both historically and culturally, as it was the center of the Inca Empire and later of the Spanish Empire in America. In addition, its central geographical location permits easy access to the different countries in the region.

Peru was designated “Best Tourist Country” in the world by The Observer Travel Awards in 1996. Our country caters for varied interests such as cultural, historical and ecological tourism, and it has 84 of 104 recognized life zones in the planet. In addition, Macchu Picchu ruins in Cuzco city have been recognized as one of the 7 New Wonders of the World.

Peru’s international image in recent years has improved substantially, as the country moved towards greater economic, political and social stability. Our country has recovered the confidence of investors and foreign direct investment has almost quadruplicated in the last years through privatization and shared investment.

In addition to its economic attractiveness, our country presents interesting social characteristics such as its racial and cultural heterogeneity, its economic and social differences and a population growth that has surpassed the Latin American average.

Our school is based in the suburbs of Lima, the country’s capital, located on the coast. It takes a 15-minute drive to get to the beach and a 1-hour ride to reach the Andes skirts. The jungle is accessible by land or plane.

The city of Lima, also known as “The City of the Kings” is one of the most attractive Latin American capital cities to live in. It is a pleasant and safe modern city adequate for professional development, especially because it is a strategic city for multinational firms operating in the region.

Nightlife in Lima offers a wide range of entertainment and Peru is an important gastronomic center in Latin America because of its varied typical food that includes dishes from the different regions of the country.

Lima has a good range of public transport systems offering taxis and radio-taxis 24 hours a day. New shopping centers, and extended supermarket and bank timetables make life easier.
